

Andromeda Man

Born into human form
You turned lights on with a blink
In your Andromeda eyes

You sit still,..... away from the crowd, the party you're here, but not of this Earth
Your eyes filled with Andromeda

Your case remains unpacked Intuition states!
this is not your home
Your room simply a place to rest
How you long for the sanity of the stars

You never understood the human race
The human race never understood you
But here you are
You are, Andromeda boy

Now a man
Logic is your only course
The place you long to return
The place you came from to find me

The human race never understood you
But then,..... did you really want to know them?

And here I am in your arms
I see Andromeda in your eyes
